50X1-HUM

1. The Soviet destroyer "Silnyi", 2,400 tons, left the Neptunwerft, Rostock, for the Baltic via Warnemunde, bound for Leningrad.
2. The destroyers "Proshyn" and "Provotny" of the "Narvik" 50X1-HUM were lying in the Neptunwerft. They had arrived from 50X1-HUM. Armament: two twin 150 mm guns, 40 mm AA guns, and two triple torpedo tubes.
3. All Soviet warships entering the western Baltic, including those making for Rostock, put in at Pillau, near Kaliningrad for ammunition. 50X1-HUM
4. The former German Navy vessel, left the Neptunwerft 50X1-HUM twenty-seven specialists for Swinemunde, ostensibly to break up the "Graf Zeppelin" lying in the Staatswerft there. These specialists, however, were of the opinion that the Russians intend to have the "Graf Zeppelin" made seaworthy in order that she may be moved to Leningrad, where she will be completed.
5. Rumors were current at the Neptunwerft, which now employs 3,500 workers, that dismantling would begin on 15 July 1947 and that the repair of vessels lying there would consequently be accelerated. These rumors have now been officially denied. In mid-June 1947 the Neptunwerft was ordered by the Russians to deliver 11,000 pairs of handcuffs.
